

23rd May 2013
h 10:30 - 13:00
Aula magna, via Venezia 8, Padua

WORDS THAT "CURE": EXPERIENCES OF CHANGE IN COMPARISON

The now indiscriminate use of the word "psychotherapy" is an important sign of the prevailing strength of the language of care whose rhetorical presuppose the existence of "good" or "bad" practices in an absolute sense for the person who "suffers" regardless the meanings according to which she/he makes experience. The question itself: "What is psychotherapy?" leads to imagine (maybe naively) that there are therapeutic "actions" easily separable from "non-therapeutic" other. During the meeting you will learn more about these and other issues about relationships change-oriented.

Speakers Professors:

Maria Armezzani

Sabrina Cipolletta

Elena Faccio

Iudici Antonio

Alessandro Salvini

Gian Piero Turchi

and students who are an active part in the initiative

The meeting will be preceded by:

9:30 to 10:30 students present: "A game for psychologists"

"Strictly speaking, the problem is not how to be cured, but how to live."

Joseph Conrad